“ I am Connie's oldest child; I was given up at birth because she was too young to take care of me and we were both meant for a better life than a too young mother could have provided. It takes great courage and a selfless kind of love to let your baby go and have the kind of life you are unable to give them. Fortunately, I found my mother and we had a year of phone calls always ending with I love you. Mom whatever part of heaven you are in I will find you and we can get the time we never had together on this earth. I look forward to spending time with my new brothers and sisters and you will live on in my heart for all the days I have left on this earth.
