“ David was a good friend to myself and others I know. Most of the time he had a smile and always a joke with the intention of elevating someone else's day. He could be counted on for anyone who needed his help. Humility is a virtue and he possessed it and was a friend to anyone. As a coworker, I respected his old-school work ethic. There are few people I've known in my life who could encourage your day by their presence alone. David had that gift. I will miss him as will many others who knew him.

*Brenda,
you will continue to be in mine & Susan's prayers for the loss of of the man you love.*
