

Dylan Fojtasek

August 9, 1991 - December 3, 2021

Dylan Blake Fojtasek, 30, of Spring, Texas passed suddenly in a tragic accident on December 3, 2021. He was born August 9, 1991, in Houston, TX to Marie and Kevin Fojtasek. The first five years of his life, he was a perfect angel causing his parents to create what would become his partner in crime, Jared.

Dylan had a beautiful singing voice and was in the school choirs through middle and high school. In addition to being placed into a chorus made up of middle school students from all of Spring ISD, he was accepted into the top choir at Spring High School.

On May 10, 2012, Dylan would start to feel some of the grief he had put his own parents through when he became the father of Caden, a smaller version of himself. Then, on January 2, 2020, Dylan finally met the only girl who was ever able to control him when his daughter, Anistyn, was born.

Dylan had a talent for all things mechanical and worked much of his adult life in mechanic shops before he went to work for Harris County in the road and bridge department. He finally found the job and company he had been looking for and was very happy to be driving an 18-wheeler traveling between towns and enjoying the open road.

Dylan's primary passion in life was his kids, but he also had many other interests. When there wasn't something else going on, you would usually find him around his garage working on one of his trucks or motorcycles, or just hanging out with friends. During white-tail season, he would most often be found either up a tree or in a blind with a bow or a gun waiting for a deer to visit his feeder, many of which would get away because he was asleep. As soon as the water was warm, and sometimes when it wasn't, Dylan would be on the lake with his family and friends hogging the water time wakeboarding or wake surfing or terrorizing anyone unlucky enough to be riding another tube alongside him as he was a master of knocking others off or simply landing on top of them. Dylan was fiercely competitive in everything he did and cornhole was no exception. Wednesday nights would usually find him throwing bags in a tournament somewhere. He was also an assistant coach for his son's baseball team through two seasons where his patience and love for children shined.

Though there were many struggles in his adult life, it was rare to find Dylan without his infectious smile and laugh while blowing out the birthday candles someone was trying to light, blocking the person trying to blow them out, sticking his wet finger in someone's ear, or "crop-dusting" people as he walked by. He was a person who was hard for people not to like and, given enough time, he would eventually win over anyone.

Dylan was preceded in death by his grandfathers, Ed Brooks and Alton Fojtasek, Sr. He is survived by his children, Caden Blake Fojtasek of Spring and Anistyn Blake Fojtasek of Spring, his girlfriend, Amy Gutowski and her son Jayce of Spring, his parents, Kevin and Marie Fojtasek of Spring, his brother, Jared Fojtasek of Dallas, maternal grandmother, Clarinda (Sissy) Brooks of Spring, paternal grandparents, Jack and Donna Zimmerman of Spring, and numerous aunts, uncles, and cousins.

Dylan's friends and family have organized a reception at District 249 on Saturday, 12/18 to play cornhole and enjoy videos and photos of Dylan; please join them to share your own memories.

“ Kevin and Marie had just moved near an elementary school when we all took this photo. Jaime and Kevin have been friends since way back when they worked at H-E-B. Tucked away in the back you can see Norma (we'll blame my dad for that). I was lucky enough to be the ring bearer in their wedding. That handsome boy in the photo being held by Marie is of course Dylan “Blue Blake”. Dylan was a very happy boy and his laugh was contagious. He carried that same boyish laugh and smile with him even as an adult. We are all proud of the young man and father you became.

May you Rest In Peace Dylan “Blue Blake”.

“ Dylan was a large part of my childhood from being a young boy to becoming a young man. As you get older you grow apart and start your own life, but the formative years and memories you make always stick with you. A young boys memories often revolve around freedom and adventure, and there are plenty to remember and too many to share.

The great memories get older, but the warm feeling they bring when you think about them will never go away.

My thoughts for his children, loved ones, and lovely family. May you live through them forever and always

“ My heart broke when I heard the news. I watched Dylan grow up with my boys. I didn't know him as an adult but I kept tabs though FB. I saw the sweet, mischievous, adventurous, intelligent little boy become a son, a partner, a father, a friend, and a young man, that I know made his parents and all who new him proud. I was proud if the man he'd become and will never forget him. He wasn't perfect but he was always unapologetically himself and that's something I've always loved and respected about him. That's something the world needs more of.

Dylan, you will be forever missed. I pray your kids carry your love with them the rest of their lives because I know your love for them was unyielding. I would have loved to see what the future held for you, I know it would have been pretty special.

Rest In Peace Dylan. You'll always hold a place in my heart.
