“ I remember when my dad was coaching their little league all star games and Brad came up with the bases loaded in a big tournament. Brad was a big kid but not always the best hitter. My dad called timeout and pulled Brad aside. I was sitting in the stands watching the plan unfold. My dad told Brad to wait until the pitcher was in the windup and then put his bat on the ground and stand still. Brad looked a bit confused but did what coach told him. It worked like a charm. The pitcher balked and Brad got the easier RBI ever. Good times. RIP Brad.
