John is survived by his son, John James Klein and his wife, Brittney; son Jeffrey Klein and his wife Tiffany; daughter Lisa Klein; daughter Jessica Qualls and her husband Austin; daughter Kelly Isonhood and her husband Danny; daughter Lindsay Klein and her partner Brandon; sister Jane Clark; and three grandchildren: Kennedy, Carson and Rylee. He also leaves behind his loyal companion, Ponyo.

John Adolph Klein, 66, passed away peacefully on December 10, 2019 in Houston, Texas after a hard-fought battle with cancer. John was born to Col. John James Klein and Isabel McCaughey on September 9, 1953 in Atlanta, Georgia. After graduating high school in Klein, Texas he went on to study at the University of Texas at Austin in the 1970s and remained a life-long Longhorn fan. Being a free spirit, his focus strayed away from his studies and pushed him towards his true passion – music. He was an accomplished self-taught piano player and during his college years he went on to play in three bands. His passion for music continued throughout his life, never missing a chance to fill the room with his beautiful melodies. After college he went on to become a self-made businessman starting up his own glass company, Jacks Glass Service. Since 1981, his company served the greater Houston area for nearly 40 years up until his passing. He prided himself on customer service and thought of his employees as family. John's other interests included fishing in Galveston Bay and golfing which he loved sharing those experiences with family and friends. Everyone that came in his presence would remember him for his loving nature, quick wit and humor.
