“ John was a former neighbor. I really don't know what else to say other than, John, you'll be missed my friend. John always had a smile on his face. Was always kind. Was always willing to lend a helping hand. For what it's worth, he could grill one heck of a cheeseburger. John was a good man who left this world far too soon. John, Rest in Peace. To the Lauterbach family: my prayers and condolences are with you during this time of grief.

“ We had the pleasure of becoming Johns neighbor when our family moved to Houston in 1994. He along with the rest of our neighbors had a tight bond and had a lot of fun together. We played golf, softball , garage darts and anything else that would give us all a reason to have some beers. John was funny, handy, and a good friend to all of our gang. God Bless and RIP.

“ When Johnny was in the hospital at the very beginning of this journey, his grandson Evander was not able to come back to see him. John could have got upset over this, but instead, he told all the random nurses coming in and out, that his grandson is right out in the hall and they have to go see him. He talked to all of them about who my little boy was and how much he meant to his PapPap. I will never forget the joy on his face.

John had this beautiful soul when it came to the ones he loved and anyone who knew him, knew how much he lit a room when talking about Nicholas, Rylee and Evander. Those 3 were his pride and joy.
