

Julius Kaiser Jr.

May 1, 2012

Julius A. Kaiser (friends called him Jay) loved and lived a full life of 92 years and breathed his last in his sleep early May 1, 2012. He was happily married to Mary Jane for 66 years and suffered her loss five years ago. He is survived by their 4 daughters- June, Liz, Angela and Ellen and their sons- David, Michael and Jay. He lived most of his life in Kensington, Maryland.

Jay graduated from the University of Maryland with an electrical engineering degree. He always loved science, gadgets and inventing. When we were children, we always admired how he could fix anything. Also, he was always working on some project. He had 13 patents and was an engineer who knew how to work with his hands. He served in the Army Corp as a Captain during WWII and became an expert in night fighter radar. After the war, he continued his career by working first at the Naval Research Lab in Bethesda, then at NASA in Greenbelt, Maryland. His specialty was in microwave research. After “retiring” he worked as a consultant in a private contracting firm for many years.

His favorite hobby was golf and he loved his friends at Kenwood golf and country club in Maryland. He exercised all his life and even hit some golf balls on the driving range on his 92nd birthday in February.

His death is a loss to us all.
