

Lola Fay Capodice

January 17, 2012

Our loving mother, Lola Fay Capodice, was born on September 12, 1924 in Wilson, OK, and was the 7th child of Walter and Mary Gregory. They relocated to the Kilgore, TX area in 1936 where Lola attended and graduated from Leverett's Chapel High School. In school, she played the flute and was on the basketball team. She enjoyed watching her brothers play sports.

After graduation she moved to Arlington, Texas and worked in an airplane factory as "Rosie the Riveter" during WWII. Along came a good looking GI, John Capodice, and it was love at first sight, as they married five days later. Dad went off to serve his country, and mom stayed with family and gave birth to their first child.

Upon his return, Lola and John moved to Chicago for better job opportunities. We lived in an apartment on Harrison and Racine, in the city, where the next 3 children were born. Due to the illness of the 4th child, Lola decided it was time to move to the suburbs. Love was still strong and Lola was blessed with two more children; making a total of 3 boys and 3 girls. Mom, having a caring heart, saw a person that needed a loving home, so she brought the 7th child into our family.

Mother was devoted to her children and would make personal sacrifices to meet their needs. Lola's strength kept our lives secure and rich in love. For several years she drove a school bus all over the Chicago area and earned many safety awards.

After all the children graduated and were on their own, Lola and John decided to return to Texas and retire.

Not a day will go by that we will not miss Mom and wish she were here, but we are comforted knowing that one day we will see her again. Till then we have hearts full of wonderful family memories.

The Addison family and staff of Addison Funeral Home extend our condolences to the Capodice family in their time of loss.
