“ Yeah my name is Jason Hawkins Quincy and I met and Job corps in 2001 we were really close bunk in the same room we even got the same goofy tattoo on our arms LOL. He was a great dude an awesome musician that's why we clicked so well. He always had my back and took up for me when people tried to pick on me or be mean to me when I was in Job corps he will forever be in my heart

“ Quincy you will truly be missed. Your kindness and love that you shared so freely with our family will never be forgotten. I'm so grateful of how you took care of your dad during his illness and was there for him when I couldn't be , which was phenomenal. You sacrificed without one complaint. I'm having a difficult time of coming to grips with losing you this soon. However; I know that God is in control and makes no mistakes. My prayers and condolences are with your mom and our whole entire family. Rest In Peace, sweet nephew and we will see you on the other side.

Your loving Aunt Cheryl Pickney

“ Hey Q, days have passed, it’s surreal... never believed I’d mourn you. Never imagined you’d leave like that. I can’t believe I’d never see you again. My heart is so broken because this was not part of the plan.

Hey Q, you so much believed in me and my potential. You always had my back and watched over me. You hated to see me sad or cry. You’d always ask what’s wrong? Are you okay??

Q, I miss our deep conversations. You were always willing to learn about the world. It’s very sad you never experienced it.

I can’t believe I’d never get a text from you. I miss you Q, I miss how you call me “Hey foolish girl” . I miss you a whole lot.

You had the purest of heart, you’d always say your truth and apologize when you’re wrong. You were rare.

I guess you were too good to stay here. Rest in heaven Q, till we meet to part no more.

Love you Always- Joyce
